CIVILIAN

Environmental Authority

Your task is to represent the public interests of environmental protection, by monitoring the work of both industry and agriculture as well as the decisions and work of state institutions.

CIVILIAN

Mayor

You ensure that the voices and needs of your citizens are heard while also acting as mediator between different stakeholders to resolve conflicts and prevent unrest within communities.

CIVILIAN

NGO Staff

You monitor all stakeholders and have a lot of experience in initiating independent protests and undercover investigations to enforce your groups core values of human rights and environmental conservation.

CIVILIAN

Park Ranger

The protected area at Riot River catchment is your responsibility. You regularly check up on the area, manage permits of all sorts and direct visitors and public relations campaigns as well as research activities.

FARMER

Maize Cultivator

You make maximum use of your farmland at the expense of the environment to counter falling market prices. This lead to erosion and input of fertilizers supplied by local cattle farmers into Riot River during the last rainfall event.

FARMER

Livestock Farmer

Due to poor animal management conditions, you administer high amounts of pharmaceuticals, which are spread on the fields via manure as fertilizer and were washed into the water during the last rainfall event.

FARMER

Veterinary

You are in close contact with both the local livestock farmers and the local pharmaceutical companies. It is your decision which products livestock farmers apply and in which quantities.

FARMER

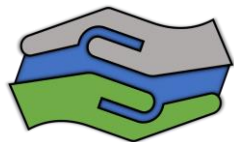

Soy Cultivator

You are in the process of fully shifting to organic soy cultivation to boost your position on the market. You collaborate with local livestock farmers by supplying them with feed.
