TEACHING STYLES

Vorlesung (V) - Lecture

Lectures introduce into the subject and present themes and content of the subject.

Übung (Ü) - Recitation

The content of the lecture is repeated and practiced. Examples and exercises with their corresponding solutions are given.

Tutorium (T) - Tutorial

Tutorials are often given by students of higher semesters and support students in understanding the subject.

Seminar (S) - Seminar

Seminars typically have significantly fewer students per professor than normal courses, and are generally more specific in topic of study. Seminars can revolve around term papers, exams, presentations, and several other assignments. Registration for the seminar is necessary in advance.

SELECTION OF COURSES

Link to the schedules of lessons at our faculty:

<https://tu-dresden.de/bu/wirtschaft/studium/courses/lectures-in-english-language>

The lectures/courses can be chosen freely and attended without registration. In some cases -especially trainings/seminars - the number of students is limited. In these cases you have to contact the respective lecturer in charge.

For participation in recitation please note the possible registration deadlines at the chairs.

Types of Examinations

The purpose of written examination is to measure student's knowledge in lectured topics. (in the lecture period or examination period at the end of the semester).

In seminars students have to write term papers and give presentations. They work independently and systematically on a topic which is directly related to the seminar.

Evaluation of Examination Results

1,0	(very good) = an outstanding performance;
1,3
1,7
2,0	(good) = a performance that is significantly above average;
2,3
2,7	(satisfactory) = a performance corresponding average requirements;
3,0
3,3
3,7	(sufficiently) = a performance that despite its shortcomings still satisfies the requirements;
4,0
5,0	(not enough) = a performance that does not meet the requirements due to significant deficiencies;

A single examination can be rated with only "passed" or "failed" if the corresponding module description allows it (ungraded examination). In the further grade calculation ungraded examinations (only "passed") are disregarded.

Student Counselling -Faculty of Business and Economics

<https://tu-dresden.de/bu/wirtschaft/studium/beratung-und-service>

The Tutor Programme organised by the International Office

"Tutor programme" means that students (= tutors) help foreign students and applicants. There is at least one tutor per department. Tutors are there for both degree students (TU Dresden degrees) and non-degree or guest students (who are studying in Dresden for one or two semesters).

The purpose of the tutor programme is to support foreign students during and before their studies, especially at the beginning, regardless of the entry level to the TU Dresden.
