

Instructions for registering for modules/courses and examinations in the student portal selma

Please login with your username and password

You can only register for an examination once you have registered for the corresponding module. Similarly, just registering for the module is not enough to be allowed to take the exam. You must always register for a module first, and then register for the exam if you wish to take it.

Module registration:

To register for a module, select Register | Deregister under the menu item Modules | Lectures, then navigate to the relevant section. All modules that are open to exchange students can be found under the headings below.
