

Dear students of the Faculty of Mechanical Engineering, in the meantime, the situation around the corona virus has unfortunately worsened once again. I hope you are all healthy and have already come to terms with the "home stay" situation.

As already announced last week, Opal courses have been created for all courses you can attend this semester and we have generated a complete overview for you.

You will find this in a superordinate Opal course at

<https://bildungsportal.sachsen.de/opal/auth/RepositoryEntry/23116349497/CourseNode/91449070526132>

Please register immediately for all courses you wish to attend this semester. The access to the courses is directly from the pdf-file. The lecturers will then inform you directly via the mail tool of the courses about the planned measures for the start of the semester. Please make sure that you receive and read all e-mails that arrive via your TUD mail account. Otherwise you will miss the important information that goes through this channel!

With many open points and questions that have been asked, we are still waiting for the university management to decide. As soon as something happens I will get in touch with you again.

Furthermore, if you have questions and concerns in the whole situation regarding teaching in these weeks, please send them to kummerkasten-mw@tu-dresden.de and use your TUD mail address (in contrast to the normal use of the Kummerkasten).

We will continue to do everything we can to ensure that you get a decent semester!

Stay healthy!
