Institute Symposium in Clinical Psychology and Psychotherapy - 13 & 14 November 2025 - Falkenbrunnen 158

	13.11.2025	14.11.2024
09:00		Kerstin Dück - Dissecting the role of cognitive control functions for goal-directed behavior
09:30		Max Ziem - Having Your Head in Rainy Clouds: Expected Need Fulfilment and Social Functioning in Depression
10:00		Keynote talk
10:30		Gaël Chételat - Impact of mindfulness- and compassion-based meditation on aging: evidence from the Silver Santé study (online)
11:00		Coffee break
11:15		Keynote talk
11:30		Susanne Knappe: The Landscape of Youth Suicide Prevention: Efficacy, Equity, and Emerging Challenges
11:45
12:00	Info slot for KPP students
12:15		Lunch break
12:30	Lea Wölflein - Biobehavioral Synchrony Between Three to Four Months Old Infants and Psychologically Healthy Mothers (online)
13:00	Franziska Giller - Evidence for the Modulation of Attentional Control Processes during Practice of the Attention Training Technique: Insights from Modern Pupillometry	The KPP professors introduce their chairs
13:30	Coffee break	Workshops (FAL 158, 157 & 311)
14:00	Philipp Riedel - Einführung, Übersicht und Fallbeispiel zur Kognitiven Verhaltenstherapie bei Psychosen (CBTp)	Michael Höfler, Rita Hansl - Open Science for newbies and everyone: Essentials, best practice, obstacles, Q&A
14:30		Cécile Abati, Regilla Bastian, Shuo Chen - What are emotions? And how should neuroscience study them?
		…
15:00	Lara Puhlmann - Mental Resilience: From stable trait to malleable process	The end
15:30	Coffee break
16:00	Eva Bütow - The Key Role of Couple Conflict in Parenting Stress in a Clinical Peripartum Parents Sample
16:30	Rita Hansl - Social Cognition As A Matter of Structural Brain Connections? A Systematic Review And Diffusion Weighted Imaging Meta-analysis
17:00	Social event: drinks, whine, bread, (plated) cheese
19:00	Opportunity to visit the bar Sonderbar, sign up https://www.sonderbar.de/	