

The Chair of Cognitive and Clinical Neuroscience is currently looking for: Student Assistants (SHK)

We are currently looking for motivated and enthusiastic student assistants to work on participant recruitment and data collection for a functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI) study investigating face-identity recognition in the human brain. Participants in the study include individuals with prosopagnosia – ‘face-blindness’ and neurotypical controls (tu-dresden.de/mn/psychologie/ifap/kknw/forschung/prosop).

Tasks: Organisation of participant recruitment, conducting behavioural (computer tasks) and fMRI experiments (with technician support) onsite at the TUD Neuroimaging Centre (tu-dresden.de/bereichsuebergreifendes/nic).

We offer: Comprehensive insight into a cognitive and clinical neuroscience lab, involvement in an international research environment, possibilities for further professional development and methodical competence, flexible working hours. Students with a keen interest in cognitive neuroscience research and neurodevelopmental disorders are encouraged to apply.

Requirements:

- Student of psychology, medicine, or related field
- Ability to work responsibly and independently
- Ability to work in a team
- Availability to work on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings (note this is not every week, and can be adjusted based on schedule)
- Native German speaker and excellent command of the English language
- Favourable:
 - Experience in conducting psychological experiments and data analysis
 - Long-term involvement

The contract of employment is based on the WissZeitVG and is initially limited to three months, with the option of extension. Working hours will be approx. 8-10 hours per week. Scheduling of working hours is flexible and can be stipulated.

Contact: Please submit your documents (in English - letter of motivation including the number of hours you would like to work per week, curriculum vitae; in English or German - high-school certificate, academic transcripts, and references if available) as a single PDF file to Corrina Maguinness: corrina.maguinness@tu-dresden.de

The start date for the position is January/February 2023. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis and application is possible until the position is filled. Posted November 2022.
