

Hygiene Regulations for on-site examinations at TU Dresden

1. Individuals with symptoms resembling those of COVID-19 are requested to leave the campus and call their doctor or GP.
2. The minimum distance of 1.5m must be maintained.
3. If a minimum distance of 1.5m is not possible, the mouth and nose should be covered.
4. The entrances and exits of the rooms and buildings must be marked. Please adhere to the signs and guidance markings.
5. After entering the buildings and examination rooms, hands should be washed immediately in the sanitary facilities.
6. On request, a bottle of hand and surface disinfectant (sanitiser) as well as disposable paper towels can be provided by those responsible for the examination by sending an email to techn.Dienste@tu-dresden.de (at least 3 days, but preferably a week before the examination). This should be made available in the entrance area of the examination room with appropriate labelling, as recommended by Directorate 4. Therefore, each examinee has the possibility to sanitise their workspace themselves or to disinfect their hands.
7. Crowds of people, for example in waiting areas, at the entrances, exits or in front of the sanitary facilities, should be avoided.
8. The seats in the examination room are to be marked with stickers. Only these seats may be used.
9. If possible, the room should be well ventilated during the examination, for at least 10 minutes per hour.
10. At the end of the examination, students must leave the examination room in rows.

Supplement to the Hygiene Regulations for the conducting of on-site examinations at TU Dresden

Examinations in lecture halls:

The seats in the lecture halls are marked with stickers. Only these seats may be used.

Examinations in seminar rooms and drawing halls:

The furniture in the seminar rooms and drawing halls has not been altered (no markings or removal of furniture) However, the capacity of the rooms has been adjusted on the basis of the applicable hygiene rules. The allocation of teaching rooms for the respective examination is based on the adjusted capacity. All participants in these examinations should ensure that the hygiene rules are observed. The person responsible for the examination is to ensure that the minimum distance of 1.5m between the individual examinees is observed.
