ELEONORE TREFFTZ PROGRAMME

A measure within the framework of the University of Excellence

| | |
|--------------------------------|--|
| Aims of the programme | TU Dresden strives to be perceived as an internationally competitive, attractive employer for excellent, international researchers. However, the proportion of women in professorial positions at TU Dresden should be further increased to 16% (2018). The Eleonore Trefftz Programme is intended to support the long-term increase in the proportion of women and internationalisation and to promote the diversity of research and teaching potential. The programme is designed to facilitate the active recruitment of excellent female researchers in the faculties where appointments are planned. Therefore, the programme offers the opportunity to get to know interesting female researchers and to recruit them for TU Dresden. In addition, the Eleonore-Trefftz Programme serves to promote female international careers with a view to improving their career opportunities in science. Especially for female students and early-career researchers, female role models are important for an academic career. In their application, the faculties present a concept of how the visiting professors will be involved in teaching and research and contribute to internationalisation. The visiting professors represent their subject independently in teaching and research. They can be involved in teaching by participating in undergraduate teaching, in Studium Generale, in doctoral colloquia or by giving specialist lectures and this teaching should comprise at least four semesters. The guest professorships can be filled for three to twelve months. |
| Course of the Procedure | Every faculty or every Central Academic Unit (ZWE) with the right of appeal is entitled to apply. If there are several proposals for visiting professors within a faculty, a ranking list must be provided. Subjects, in which there is a strategic interest in a visiting professorship but no suitable candidate could be found, can be actively supported in the search. |

|-----------------------------|---|
| | The application is submitted in agreement with the researcher who is intended as a candidate for the visiting professorship. Female researchers who hold a chair as well as junior professors and early-career researchers who are at least in an advanced stage of the post-doc phase may be proposed. The nominated candidates must meet the subject-specific requirements and may not be in a current service or employment relationship with TU Dresden or, as a rule, have not been in an employment relationship with TU Dresden within the last three years. The application should contain the following documents: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Completed application form (see Attachment) • Information on the academic career of the candidate, including a list of previous teaching events and publications • Information about the planned stay, including involvement in research and teaching • Information on strategic recruitment intentions • Cost plan for the planned visiting period Applications for guest residencies in 2020 must be submitted in PDF format to internationalisierung.exu@tu-dresden.de by 15th June 2020. The decision on the promotion of female candidates is the responsibility of the University Executive Board. The following selection criteria are relevant for the selection decision: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Excellence of the research profile • Candidate's international profile • Integration into research areas of the Faculty or Central Academic Unit • Supplementing the teaching offer through the visiting professorship • Medium-term planned appointment procedures at the faculty |
