

Specialist group: European Project Center, Transfer Office, Project Scouts

Administrative Services for International Research Collaboration, Knowledge and Technology Transfer

The European Project Center (EPC) is hosting this specialist group, which will exchange information, experiences and best practices on the administrative support services for international research collaboration, knowledge and technology transfer into society and business at TU Dresden and the universities of the participants.

There will be three sessions focusing on the following aspects:

- How are the administrative services organised at the universities? Accompanying during the initial planning of a third-party funded research project
- Turning ideas into successful projects: administrative advice and support during the entire life of a EU-funded project
- Supporting knowledge and technology transfer into society and business – TU Dresden's Transfer Office
