Action program
family-friendly university
Strategic framework

TU Dresden has been a certified family-friendly university since 2007. We are committed to helping students and members of staff to reconcile work and studies with family responsibilities. For us, family does not only mean parenthood, but also caring for grandparents, parents, and life partners. With the re-auditing as a family-friendly university, TU Dresden is continuing its long-term voluntary commitment to promoting the reconciliation of work or study and family.

At TU Dresden, family friendliness has already established itself in a promising way. Nevertheless, a permanent, comprehensive and long-term commitment will be needed to ensure that family friendliness is indeed put into practice. Family orientation is a significant and decisive component for the success of TU Dresden, since modern working and study conditions are an essential basis for scientific excellence. As a University of Excellence, it is of paramount importance to remain attractive to bright minds.

This target agreement, which was adopted on December 10, 2019, is intended to further promote a culture of family friendliness. In addition to the conception of new projects, the existing measures will be consolidated, optimised and communicated according to the target group. Furthermore, the evaluation of both the necessity and the suitability of measures will be continued.

As a family-friendly educational institution and employer, TU Dresden strives to increase the satisfaction of students and members of staff with its extensive range of measures to promote the reconciliation of work or studies and family life. At the same time, the university strives to set a benchmark for more family orientation even beyond the borders of the higher education institutions in the Dresden network on work and family „Dresdner Netzwerk Beruf und Familie“.
